Hands-on Peds Emergency Skills Review

This one of a kind, hands-on review course was developed to help reinforce the essentials of pediatric emergency care. During this 1/2 day program, attendees will work with harvested animal organs for a truly unique review of pediatric pathophysiology. Not just hearing, but actually seeing, touching, and performing procedures are the keys to really understanding, "Why we do what we do" in pediatric emergency and critical care. Medical professionals will gain confidence in their procedural skills, and be better able to utilize these techniques with critically ill or injured pediatric patients. Your pediatric patients will be glad that you took the time to "Get Messy!"

This is a hands-on program, we strongly encourage participants to wear scrubs.

*Emergency skills will be practiced on harvested pig and/or cow organs. NO animals were euthanized for the purpose of this course.

Credit Hours

This continuing education activity, as part of the Birth, Babies, & Big Kids course, is approved for 3.5 hours by the Emergency Nurses Association, an accredited approver of nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation (ANCC). This activity is also approved for 3.5 hours by the Illinois Department of Public Health, Division of EMS for paramedics. Respiratory credits are granted for 3.5 hours by the American Association for Respiratory Care (AARC).
